1. Organisation Overview:

- ❖ Name: THE NDLOVU BRAND ARCHITECTS
- ❖ The organisation was founded by Brighton Ndlovu, a IIE Rosebank college student, who is studying towards his bachelor's degree in ICT business system. The Ndlovu Brand Architects was registered in 2023 but started its operations in 2025. It was born from a desire to address the gap between advertising industry, focusing on small business and creating a disruptive agency that understand client needs and people.
- ❖ The mission is to deliver work that goes beyond temporary campaigns to establish a long-lasting impact. To take small business or brands in township to global platforms, challenge industry norms and build a competitive black owned agency.
The vision is to take small business or brands and market them, in helping them to grow to where they have never been before, to also transform small brands into cultural movement that resonate deeply with consumers.
- ❖ The Ndlovu Brand Architects targets ambitious, small brands and corporations particularly those operating within townships that possess hunger for greatness. It also caters to organisation wanting to build authentic and relative brand.

2. Website Goals and Objectives:

- ❖ The goal for The Ndlovu Brand Architects is to showcase our ability to take local brands to national platforms and to establish ourselves as a strategic partner for creative communication, brand management and PR.
Showcasing the brands such as work building, content creation and to work as a portfolio for their brand strategies.
Building easy ways of networking with people and collaboration with another brand.
- ❖ Based on the company's focus to help brands grow, key performance indicators include reputation and brand sentiment metrics whereby we analyse the ratio of positive neutral and negative coverage in media and social platforms.
Sharing of voice by measuring the prominence of their clients brand compared to competitors within the same industries.
Strategic and Creative Effectiveness by campaigning impact and measuring the effectiveness of cascading key messages to the intended target audience.
Operational and team performance whereby engaging in staff growth, measuring the success of internal mentorship.

3. Current Website Analysis (if applicable):

- strengths and weaknesses of the existing website.

Strength:

Strong brand Identity and tone, the brand website effectively communicates a bold, energetic, and re-imagined South African identity.

Clear value proposition, the site clearly articulates what they do, content creation and brand management.

Weaknesses:

Limited in-depth case studies, while the site highlights who they work with, it often lacks detailed, interactive case studies that explain the how and why behind the results of their campaigns.

Navigation and user experience, the website navigation can feel unconventional, potentially making it harder for users looking for specific information like bios or contact forms to find it quickly.

Content freshness, while major projects are listed, the site could benefit from more frequent update to the blog or news selection to show real time momentum.

- Identify areas for improvement based on the weaknesses identified.

Enhance case studies, transform project spotlights into in depth, visual storytelling. instead of just listing clients.

Streamline navigation, reorganize the navigation to make it easier for potential clients to reach the contact or work with us section faster, improving conversion rates.

4. Proposed Website Features and Functionality:

Homepage: taking each step forward

Hero section, immediately showcase the brands personal, potentially using an image to showcase or reflect to same work that they have moved from one step to another.

Value proposition, clear statement defining The Ndlovu Brand Architects as a passionate family of brand strategies and brand architects focused on small business and unexpected alignment. Also, in reputation management, content creation and PR.

Call to Action, a clear invitation to start are re-imagined journey.
